

Privacy Policy

Information you supply while visiting MyFloralAds.com is always held in strict confidence. We may use certain information you provide to offer you a personal experience at our website or to enable our shopping cart to "remember" details about your order. MyFloralAds.com uses electronic cookies to identify you while you visit our site, as a convenience to you, to enable you to gain access to certain areas of our site without requiring you to login each time. Each time you visit our site, the cookie is updated.

Security

We employ electronic security techniques (such as firewalls and encryption) to prevent the retrieval, misuse and alteration by unauthorized parties of information entered at our site. Information is stored away from the website and is not accessible through the use of a web browser. Information you enter during the credit card payment process is encrypted using secure sockets layer (SSL) technology and is never accessed by any MyFloralAds.com individual for any reason. The information is not under our control as it travels over Web-based payment and processing systems, however, these reputable Internet processing companies have extraordinarily robust safeguards in place to protect the data they transmit and manage.

What the Public Sees

Information you enter for an advertisement here will be seen by the public if you complete the ad posting and payment process. Please remember to proofread your advertising content closely, include all important details and exercise caution with regard to the personal information you display for the public.

Personal Information for MyFloralAds.com

While you are visiting MyFloralAds.com, we collect your personal details (name, address, phone, email, etc.) only for the purposes of (A) documenting your transaction and (B) to contact you about your transaction or your advertisement if that should become necessary. We do not share, sell or disclose personal or confidential information to other parties except when legally required or when in the interest of all concerned parties it is advisable to do so for safety or moral reasons or for legal consideration of compliance with our terms and conditions.

Personal Information Provided by You to Buyers or Sellers

MyFloralAds.com does not control information you supply to buyers or sellers. Should you list your email address, postal address, name, company name or phone number in the content of your advertisement or in communicating with a buyer or seller, you do so AT YOUR OWN RISK and YOU ASSUME FULL RESPONSIBILITY FOR CONSEQUENCES. We provide the ability for you to contact a seller using our standard inquiry form in order to reduce your liability and risk.

This policy is provided for your safety and protection. It does not preclude the transfer, sale, disposal or assignment of MyFloralAds.com or its assets by any method. Additionally, MyFloralAds.com makes no claim or warranty regarding the accuracy of information entered by our users and displayed at our website, and we disclaim all liability regarding the use of information our website buyers and sellers choose to display at or through our website.

-- End --